

I Stole Your Eggs

I'm sorry.

I stole your eggs.

I was hungry, I had an exam coming up.

I didn't know what to do!

I opened the fridge and saw them,
bright white with rich golden yolks.

I could taste them every which way already,
scrambled with cheese, over easy, poached.

So I stole your eggs and I'm sorry.

I cracked them and cooked them and ate them.

And goddamn they were good.

Noah Eisen